

ECE 410: Discipline of Young Children
Analysis of Personal Discipline Experience
Continuous Assessment (10 points)
Dr. K. A. Korb

Overview. The purpose of this assignment is to reflect on and analyse a time when you were disciplined as a child. You will first reflect on a time that you were disciplined as a child. Then you will use the principles of discipline that discussed in class to analyse how you were disciplined. Note that this must be an occasion where you did misbehave. The critique of the discipline cannot be that you did not deserve to be disciplined; the critique should be regarding the method of discipline.

Description of personal discipline experience. First, describe a time when you were disciplined as a child. Explain first your misbehavior. Then explain how you were disciplined. Finally, describe how you responded to the discipline. What were you thinking/feeling after the discipline? Did the discipline lead to positive change, negative change, or no change in your behavior? Why do you think this was so?

Analysis of discipline. Analyse the discipline you received. Based on the principles discussed in class, describe which (if any) aspects of the discipline were effective and which (if any) aspects of the discipline were ineffective.

Strategies for future discipline. In the final section, describe strategies for future discipline. For the aspects of your discipline that was ineffective, explain what should have been done instead to make it more effective. How will you use the effective aspects of your discipline in the future? Overall, what did you learn about discipline of young children from this analysis?

Evaluation

You will be evaluated on the following:

- Description of the personal discipline experience (2 points)
- Analysis of discipline (4 points)
- Strategies for future discipline (4 points)
