

CED 6413
Personal Developmental Event Presentation and Paper
DUE: 12 October

Assignment Overview

This assignment requires you to reflect on a developmental event in your life and relate that event to two (2) developmental theories covered in class.

First, consider a “watershed” moment in your life, an event that shaped your development. This moment could have shaped you positively or negatively, and it could have changed you in any domain of development: physically, socially, emotionally, cognitively, morally, or spiritually. The first paragraph in your paper should clearly describe this event.

Next, relate this event to two developmental theories. The second and third paragraphs should explain which theory this event related to, and why. (Each paragraph should take a separate theory). Be sure to clearly link the principles of the theory to the developmental event in your life.

Marking Scheme

- Thorough description of the developmental event (3 points)
- Clear description of how the developmental event related to theory 1 (6 points)
- Clear description of how the developmental event related to theory 2 (6 points)

CED 6413
Personal Developmental Event Presentation and Paper
DUE: 12 October

Assignment Overview

This assignment requires you to reflect on a developmental event in your life and relate that event to two (2) developmental theories covered in class.

First, consider a “watershed” moment in your life, an event that shaped your development. This moment could have shaped you positively or negatively, and it could have changed you in any domain of development: physically, socially, emotionally, cognitively, morally, or spiritually. The first paragraph in your paper should clearly describe this event.

Next, relate this event to two developmental theories. The second and third paragraphs should explain which theory this event related to, and why. (Each paragraph should take a separate theory). Be sure to clearly link the principles of the theory to the developmental event in your life.

Marking Scheme

- Thorough description of the developmental event (3 points)
- Clear description of how the developmental event related to theory 1 (6 points)
- Clear description of how the developmental event related to theory 2 (6 points)